Male Population Of Algerian Town Wiped Out; Only Young Boys Spared

ALGIERS (AP)—Survivors of a night of horror came out of the mountains today and told how nationalist Arab rebels massacred almost the entire male population of their village 80 miles south-east of Algiers. French officials put the total dead at 302.

Reports of the bloodshed on Tuesday night reached the French yesterday when some of the male survivors staggered out of their hiding places. Some went mad over the massacre, described by the French as the worst incident of its kind in the history of modern Algeria.

Aid was rushed by helicopter to the village of La Melouza. The French said the first troops to arrive were sickened by the sight and smell of hundreds of bodies. In one house 5 bodies were piled on one another. Part of the village was put to the torch.

Many of the women were injured as they sought to save their husbands and sons. The French said of the males only boys aged 15 years or less were spared.

The French speculated the massacre was another bloody chapter in the rivalry of the two big Algerian nationalist groups—the Algerian Nationalist Movement (MNA) and the National Liberation Front (FLN).

Hold Woman For Murder Of Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A private secretary was held on a first-degree murder charge today in the slaying of her former fiancé—a Russian-born Voice of America employee who married another woman less than three weeks ago.

Police found the body of Zubair Abdusheli, 40, sprawled on a couch in the fashionable apartment of Edith Louise Hough, 41. He had been shot six times with a .25-caliber pistol.

The graying, ash blonde told police she shot Abdusheli after he became "psychologically aggressive" yesterday during an early-morning call. His wife, the former Irene Eristoff, said he had gone to Miss Hough's apartment to express condolences on the recent death of her father.

U. S. Commissioner James F. Splain ordered Miss Hough held without bond and continued the case until June 13. A coroner's inquest into the death was set for today.

Police said Miss Hough greeted them calmly at the door of her apartment when they arrived shortly after 9:30 a.m. in answer to her call. She gave them the pistol.

Dist. Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said Abdusheli's body bore six bullet wounds—three in the chest, one in the back, one in the left temple and one through the right forearm.

Miss Hough told officers she fired several shots at Abdusheli as he stood in front of her picture window and that he fell onto her couch. "Later he was groaning and moaning," police quoted her as saying, "and I thought it was unmerciful to let him suffer." She said she then shot him in the temple.

Abdusheli was married May 11 in Highland Falls, N.Y. Both he and his 43-year-old bride were natives of Russia Georgia and naturalized American citizens. The grey-haired six-footer was a $6,000 a year announcer-translator for the Voice of America.

Miss Hough told police she broke her engagement to Abdusheli about a year ago and had been avoiding him since.

Mrs. Abdusheli said her husband called Miss Hough yesterday morning after learning of the death of her father, then went over to offer her sympathy in person.

Picks Up Troubles

Legislature Session Seen as Unusual One

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—This is the last day for Missouri's Legislature and looking back it has been a strange session all the way around.

Not since 1945 has the General Assembly operated under more unusual conditions.

That was the year the voters adopted a new Constitution. The Legislature had to change hundreds of laws to fit the new charter. It was in session almost constantly through 1945 and 1946.

This year the lawmakers started out under a handicap and they picked up more trouble as they went along.

The 1955 session set up some 20 special committees to study different governmental problems between sessions. Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton ruled they couldn't operate and his position was upheld in part by the State Supreme Court, which said both houses must approve interim study committees.

That meant the 1957 session had to start from scratch on some complex problems, without having the ground plowed ahead of time by committee studies.

Then, even before they convened, incoming Gov. James T. Blair told them the state was facing a financial crisis. He urged that appropriations be made on a one-year basis until he and the lawmakers could determine where the state stood financially.

He also asked the legislators to "hold the line" on any new, expensive programs. And he requested $50,000 to put a staff of budget experts on the job so a special session next year can tackle the money problem all over again.

That was the pattern the legislators followed. In the main they also voted to set up a special study committee to examine state taxes and determine whether any increases are necessary.

The tax problem was bypassed this year. But many legislators have said they expect to be facing it when they reconvene next year.

In addition to the limitations imposed by the governor, who kept sounding the economy note throughout the session, the legislators had to contend with two problems they imposed on themselves.

One was the five-month limit on the session, adopted by the people in 1952 in a package deal that gave the lawmakers $10 a day expenses whenever they answer the first roll call. It cost most of them more than that to live in Jefferson.

Tabulation Stands at 166

Holiday Death Toll Lower Than Predicted by Council

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death stalked the nation's highways as usual over Memorial Day but the number of victims claimed was lower than expected.

This morning, 94 traffic deaths had been counted. At least 120 had been expected. Drownings and other holiday-connected mishaps brought to 166 the over-all toll.

However, with many citizens stretching the holiday through the weekend, the fatality list continued to grow.

Today the tabulation stood at 94 traffic deaths, 37 drownings and 35 lives lost from other misfortunes, for a total of 166.

Midnight last night was the close of a 30-hour Memorial Day measuring period which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday. During that time there were, in addition to 92 traffic deaths, 37 from drowning and 33 from other causes.

The National Safety Council had expected at least 120 highway deaths in the 30 hours. Council President Ned H. Dearborn said that "we are grateful" for the City and few have expressed any qualms about taking the money. Then there was the $300 a month special election April 2 when the voters said decisively they thought that was too much to pay a legislator.

This was another package deal but it didn't go over. It included round trip expenses from home to the Capital City once a week instead of once a session and an increase in pay from $125 a month to $300, whether the assembly is in session or not.

The voters said "no" in a loud, clear voice.

The legislators didn't like it, but there wasn't much they could do. There was angry talk for a while that the decision would be interpreted as meaning that the voters wanted no salaries at all increased.

But the anger didn't last and the lawmakers went ahead, passing salary increase bills for hundreds of city, county and state officials.

Blair Assistant Will Quit His Post Today

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Jack Stapleton Sr., administrative assistant to Gov. James T. Blair, said today he is serving his last day in that capacity.

Stapleton, who is 57, said he agreed with Blair to stay through the legislative session when he was named to the spot last December. Now, he said, he's "going home to look after my neglected business interests."

Searchers Had Given Up

Woman Lives 19 Days on Candy After Plane Crash on Mountain

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—"It's certainly a blessing to be alive."

Those were the first words Mrs. Dalton LeMasurier spoke to rescuers who found her beside the body of her husband last yesterday on a snow-shrouded mountain side.

The 45-year-old Duluth, Minn., housewife survived her ordeal for 19 days—more than a week longer than searchers sought the wreckage of the couple's plane.

Her only nourishment was three small pieces of chocolate candy and a bottle of vitamin pills.

With only the remains of the burned-out wreckage and shrubs for protection, Mrs. LeMasurier lived through almost constant storms.

"You can't imagine how awful the weather must have been," said one rescuer.

She shouted with joy when she spotted the seven-man party. She was rushed to the Rawlins hospital suffering from shock, frostbite, sunburn, exposure and malnutrition.

Dr. Robert D. Paul, Carbon County coroner, said: "I thought it was an echo from one of the fellows. Then we saw this woman—she was wearing her husband's pants and jacket but no shoes—and calling for help."

"We were stunned. Not once did anyone think, even for a moment, that one of them would be alive."

The couple's light plane, headed back to Duluth from Pasadena, Calif., smashed into 9,500-foot Ferris Mountain east of here May 11 during heavy overcast.

The gasoline tank exploded and burned for an hour. Then a rainstorm put out the fire.

Here's Mrs. LeMasurier's story of the crash and what followed: "We were flying at about 8,000 feet when there was some engine noise and my husband said: 'We're going to crash!'"

"As soon as we could get free of the wreckage we began to run because the gas tank was on fire. It exploded and blew our clothing toward us. A cloudburst finally put out the fire."

"We crawled into the fuselage of the plane and stayed there for the first three nights."

"After that we wandered about 400 yards down the mountain onto a level area. The drifts of snow were about four feet deep and it kept snowing and raining."

LeMasurier, who was president of Duluth radio station KDAL, presumably was injured fatally in the crash.

His wife first told rescuers he died four days after the crash, later that he died seven days ago. And before going to sleep in her hospital bed last night she said she knows he is still living.

She told Dale Cowles, promotion manager of the Duluth station who was with the rescue party: "My goodness, we will have to have a birthday party for Dalton. His birthday was Monday."

Their children are Donald, 25, a Duluth magazine publisher; Ronald, 23, Pasadena, Calif., an actor; and Mrs. Judith Collins, 21, of El Paso, Tex.

During her ordeal, Mrs. LeMasurier told Cowles, she saw several airliners and light planes obviously taking part in the widespread aerial search for the couple.

"I waved a red sweater but nobody saw it," she said.

Hurry Six Fund Measures

Senate Okays, Sends Appropriation Bills To House; Final Vote Is Expected

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri House started working on six major appropriation bills today with the likelihood of approving them early in the afternoon of this final day of the 1957 session.

The first bill, to provide $26 million for the operations of the huge revenue department, took 15 minutes.

It was reduced only $8,000 by a conference committee from the original House figure.

The major appropriations whipped through the Senate late last night in an hour of feverish work.

The House had set the various amounts at almost exactly the levels requested by the institutions and agencies of the state. The Senate then slashed away at the appropriations, cutting most deeply into amounts for the state hospitals and the schools.

The conference committee generally split the difference in writing its compromise figures.

Sen. John W. Noble (D) of Kennett, Senate appropriations chairman, said the final bills meant that all Missouri's anticipated revenue would be spent plus about $23 million of the estimated $43 million surplus.

As the bills left the house all anticipated revenue and all but $3 million of the surplus was budgeted.

The total cost of running the state's government and its growing list of services for the year beginning July 1 thus will run somewhat under a half billion.

The Senate had whacked almost $6 million off the amounts for state hospitals. A little over half the difference was restored by the compromise bills. Here are the total figures for the institutions. Original house figures in parentheses.

State hospital No. 1 at Fulton $3,403,175. ($3,891,755.)

No. 2 at St. Joseph $2,257,500. ($2,913,915.)

No. 3 at Nevada $2,397,500. ($2,802,281.)

No. 4 at Farmington $2,207,500. ($2,432,655.)

Marshall-Carrollton-Higginsville School for Feeble Minded Children $1,905,000. ($2,181,000.)

Tornado Aid Fund Still Short of Goal

An appeal from the local Red Cross Chapter for the tornado victims relief fund in Kansas City has brought the total to $1,985, but a great deal more money is needed, according to Maurice Hogan, president of the Pettis County Chapter.

Among the donations are: Zephyr Manufacturing Co., $100 from the firm and $41.90 from the employees; Lamy Manufacturing Co., $50; and from the Smithton community a sum of $114 was turned in by Mrs. Cecil Smith.

Over 5,000 Students Stage Holiday Riot

200 Police Offers Fire Tear Gas Bombs on Campus

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—More than 5,000 University of Illinois students staged a campuswide Memorial Day riot that was quelled after eight hours by more than 200 police officers who fired at least 150 volleys of tear-gas bombs.

At least two coeds were injured and 50 students were arrested and jailed overnight.

Students used wastebuckets as water jugs in the riot that apparently got its start as a friendly waterfight between two neighboring fraternity houses.

The day had been designated a study day. Final examinations began Wednesday and are to be resumed today.

Some students will face more than final examinations.

Dr. David Dodds Henry, university president, said, "Everyone involved will be taken before the disciplinary committee."

He said expulsion probably lay in prospect for some.

"It apparently started out innocently enough, but what we are interested in learning is how it grew to such enormous proportions," Dr. Henry said. "A thorough investigation is being conducted and a full report will be made."

Lt. John T. Henry of the Illinois state police said the outbreak grew from a waterfight between members of Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Delta Phi.

Soon, students used some of the girls from Sherwood Lodge, a women's dormitory, as targets. Henry said it began some time after 4 p. m. and "by about 7 p. m. there were more than 5,000 students."

He said university police called for help and police from surrounding cities, Champaign County and Illinois state police districts 10 and 12 responded.

Had it not been for the dam, the White River valley would have suffered its worst flood in history this spring. It could well be that the cities of Branson and Hollister, immediately below the dam, and all the resort area stretching along Lake Taneycomo would today be a shambles, were it not for the dam.

As the 261-foot-high concrete wall across the river commenced to take form, all that was left open at the river floor were the flood gates, large enough to accommodate a normal flow of water, plus an occasional "high water" such as has been experienced in the preceding five years of drought.

DOING ITS JOB EARLY—Water gushes over the partially completed Table Rock dam—much sooner than expected. Almost Year Early

Table Rock Dam Pays Ahead of Schedule

BRANSON, Mo. (AP)—The price tag on giant Table Rock dam, now 70 per cent finished, is $78,000,000 but ask anyone living in the White River valley below the barrier and he'll tell you the dam already has paid for itself.

No one, least of all the Army Engineers and the construction companies, had any idea there would be any water behind the dam until the gates were closed sometime next year, but right now, after weeks and weeks of almost steady rainfall, Table Rock Lake probably contains as much water as it was designed to impound.

Had it not been for the dam, the White River valley would have suffered its worst flood in history this spring. It could well be that the cities of Branson and Hollister, immediately below the dam, and all the resort area stretching along Lake Taneycomo would today be a shambles, were it not for the dam.

But along in February it began to rain in the Ozarks of Missouri and Arkansas—and seemingly it has been raining almost every day since. For a time the flood gates were large enough to take the runoff, but gradually water began backing up behind the dam. Through March and April the water mounted steadily higher, and the contractors—Morrison-Knudsen, Inc., and a syndicate of six other firms—took advantage of every possible break in the weather to build the concrete monolith ever higher. Once in early May, it appeared that the flood threat had been licked when 16 feet of concrete in a narrow gap was poured in a week's time—enough to keep ahead of the flood crest by a scant four inches.

The

Union Leader May Have Helped Search

WASHINGTON (AP) — John F. English, a leader of cleanup forces in the Teamsters Union, may have accidentally or purposely helped Senate racketeers investigate locate a son and relatives of Teamsters President Dave Beck. They had been long sought for questioning.

English is the union's 68-year-old general secretary — treasurer and guardian of Teamsters purse strings. His opposition to Beck is believed to be the main factor in Beck's recent announcement he is not seeking re-election as Teamsters president.

It was reliably reported today that English cut Dave Beck Jr. and three other relatives or friends of the elder Beck off the Teamsters payroll two months ago.

At that time Beck Jr. and two other Beck relatives were reported in Canada — out of reach of committee subpoenas seeking to compel their attendance at hearings here.

It is reported the group, cut off from Teamsters paychecks, finally ran out of funds and had to return to the United States where they recently were served with subpoenas on the West Coast.

The 37-year-old Beck Jr., Joseph E. McEvoy, husband of the elder Beck's niece, and Fred Verschueren Sr. are due to testify before the Rackets Committee here next Tuesday.

Beck Jr. and McEvoy have been linked in prior testimony to Beck Sr.'s complicated money deals. Verschueren is a top Teamsters Union auditor on the West Coast.

Beck Jr. has been pictured by earlier witnesses as "a spoiled boy" whose father got him a lucrative beer distributorship from the Anheuser-Busch Co.

Soviet Claims Extra Large Hydrogen Bomb

WARSAW (AP) — An H-bomb so big that it defies testing reportedly is claimed by the Soviet Union.

Poland's semi-official Publicity-Information Agency — API — reported Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev told a group of visiting Polish journalists about the monster bomb at a meeting in the Kremlin this month.

"This bomb is so big we cannot test it even inside the vast area of the Soviet Union. We couldn't even test it in the Arctic. If we set it off at the North Pole it would melt the icecap and send the oceans spilling over the world," API quoted Khrushchev.

If the polar icecaps ever thawed scientists have estimated ocean levels would climb more than 70 feet, flooding London, New York and other cities.

The API correspondent said Khrushchev told the group to explode the bomb in the most remote northern area of the Soviet Union "would have disastrous results for the whole of Scandinavia," and that one bomb of its size "would be enough for Britain or France."

Neither the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission nor the State Department in Washington had any immediate comment.

Arrest Man For Indecent Acts in Public

A man identified by several young women and a 12-year-old girl as the man who in the past several weeks has been doing indecent acts in the vicinity of Sixth and Kentucky and Fifth and Montau, was picked up by police Wednesday night.

For several weeks Chief of Police Neighbors has been having various police officers checking the neighborhood in hopes of apprehending the man who had been reported on at least four different occasions. The man had made his appearance either on Fifth or Sixth.

S-Sgt. Nicastro, married and the father of two small children, emphatically denied the acts.

His case in police court was continued to Tuesday, June 11. He is on a $2,000 signed bond, to appear in court.

Doctor Warns Against Radar Beam Dangers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Radar beams can be extremely dangerous, warns a California surgeon. They already have killed one man and injured others.

The first known case of death from radar was believed to have occurred in 1954 in the Los Angeles area. Dr. John T. McLaughlin of nearby Glendale reported in the current issue of the California Medical Assn. monthly publication.

He said the 42-year-old victim stood in front of a radar transmitter for less than a minute. In 10 seconds he had a sensation of heat in the abdomen. In less than a minute the heat became so intense he had to move away.

The man, a technician in a radar manufacturing plant, died within two weeks. There were no marks on the surface of his body, Dr. McLaughlin said, but "his insides were cooked."

There was a hole as big as a silver dollar burned in his small bowel.

The case is just now being reported for security reasons, Dr. McLaughlin explained.

He said microwaves emitted by a radar transmitter cause instant and intolerable temperature increases in tissues and cells.

City Officials Request Help To Quell Riot

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—Juarez officials sought federal help today in the wake of a riot by hundreds of Juarez Agricultural College students.

Joe Demic, reporter for the El Paso, Tex., Times, said the students had barricaded streets, wrecked automobiles and attacked a residence with bricks and stones.

Manual Alcaraz, mayor pro tem, charged that the student riots were Communist inspired.

"We are appealing for army help," he said.

The 50-year-old school has been strikebound for 27 days as 1,200 students have refused to return to classes. They wanted federal control of the privately owned institution.

Police said the disorders yesterday were touched off when a relative of a school official fired a pistol as students surrounded his automobile. There were no reports of injuries.

Student leaders denied any Communist ties.

Demic said riot leaders told him: "What we're after is decent living conditions, better instruction and... better schools."

Buy Fish For Cats After Being Locked In Poultry Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Francis De Santis, 65, likes cats, and regularly goes to market to buy chicken heads for the cats in her upper Manhattan neighborhood.

Yesterday about noon she went into a poultry market. The proprietor didn't see her and left the shop, closing up for the day.

Trapped, Miss De Santis went to the front window and waved to passers-by. They waved back but continued on their way. Two hours and 40 minutes later one pedestrian caught on and called police.

When she was freed, Miss De Santis commented: "I don't ever want to see another chicken again."

She headed for a delicatessen to buy canned fish for the cats.

Seriously Ladies

HENRETTA, Okla. (AP)—John Morris, a disc jockey at a radio station here, learned a lesson about ad libbing.

He completed a commercial on a sale of rose bushes, then casually added "and if you ladies buy some of these rose bushes and can't get your husbands to plant them, Ol' Lover John will come out and plant them for you."

The phone started ringing and Morris was busy the following Sunday planting rose bushes around town.

All he had to say was: "We sure have got a bunch of lazy husbands around here."

French Officials Report Massacre Of Mountain Village

ALGIERS (AP)—French officials today told of a night of horror during which nationalist rebels massacred at least 275 Moslems—the entire male population of a mountain village.

Authorities said rebels swept down Tuesday night and overwhelmed the village of La Casbah, a few miles away. Sub-machine guns moved down many of them. The rebels slit the throats of others and beat some to death.

The story was pieced together from the stunned womenfolk.

The French said they did not know the reason for the massacre but speculated that it was another bloody chapter in the rivalry between the two big Algerian nationalist groups, the Algerian Nationalist Movement (MNA) and the National Liberation Front (FLN).

Says Executives Should Start Thinking Creatively

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never suspect if he didn't read his mail:

That one reason why business isn't even better may be the fault of executives. A management expert says the American economy would be 15 per cent more productive if executives would quit worrying and start thinking creatively.

That the average employee still will firmly believe most organizations require two bosses—one to fire people, and the other to build morale.

Escape Plane Crash With Minor Injuries

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP)—A 40-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., businessman and his family escaped with only minor injuries yesterday when their small plane crash landed in a field near Nortonville.

Ted Adams, vice president of the Arizona Distributing Co., told the Civil Aeronautics Administration office at St. Joseph, Mo., that his plane was forced down after a piston broke loose and knocked a hole in the engine.

Adams said he and his two sons, James, 8, and Richard, 5, each suffered a black eye, but that his 37-year-old wife, Bette Gene, escaped unhurt.

The plane was demolished.

Adams and his sons were treated at a doctor's office in Nortonville. The family was en route to Gentry, Mo., to visit Adams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Adams, when the accident occurred. They completed their journey by car.

Adams, a graduate of the University of Missouri, won the state amateur golf championship in 1939 and the Canadian amateur title in 1938.

Live Bomb Is Found In New York Theatre

NEW YORK (AP)—A live bomb, with a fuse that had been lighted but fizzled out, was found last night in the men's wash room of a Bronx theatre.

Horace Reddick, a porter, found the device in a paper towel receptacle in the basement of the RKO Chester Theatre. He rushed it to an adjoining vacant lot and called police.

Some 1,000 patrons were unaware of what was happening.

A bomb squad dismantled the explosive, constructed of a three-inch length of one-inch pipe.

Past Garden Club Presidents' Home Tour Here Is Described

The Past Presidents Club of the Sedalia Garden Clubs, of which Mrs. A. A. Ferguson is president, sponsored the annual Homes Tour, open to Garden Club members and their guests, on May 17. The proceeds from this tour are to be used for the continuation of beautification of State Fair Blvd. from 16th to Broadway, a project undertaken several years ago.

The following homes were visited:

At 1615 West Tenth the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Johns is a French Provincial white house with black shutters, and at the time of the tour yellow parrot tulips edged the shrubbery planting. A flatter, ing shade called candlelight was used on the painted walls of the interior of the home, accented with turquoise blending furnishings of period and contemporary. The entrance hall was defined by grillwork panels. A complete collection of herbs and spices were displayed in the kitchen, indicating this family enjoys gourmet meals. The fireplace in the family room flamed with red geraniums instead of real fire on this warm day. In one bedroom was an heirloom, a small-sized rocker covered with decorator's size printed moleskins.

The ranch type home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hurt, 2803 Southwest Blvd., is quite new, but surrounded by a beautiful lawn and shrubs. One conversation piece was an Avellana Cortorta, fantastically twisted, its branches almost corkscrew shape. This is a member of the filbert family. Inside the home the furnishings are mellowed pine and walnut, a color scheme mostly brown, gold and yellow. The family room facing the Country Club golf course gives a wide open green view. Here was a collection of apothecary antiques and an original water color from last year's State Fair art exhibit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barrick, 2805 Southwest Blvd., have a brick home of modern architecture, on a new lawn with promising new trees. Entering the home through a hallway, the floor is inset with vari-colored marble. Directly off the hall is an office for Mr. Barrick. The hall leads into a dining room decorated in sharp charcoal, white and red, with a table in the center with an "S" rope arrangement of orange blossoms on an oval tray. White candles in silver holders were at either end. A plan for large scale entertaining was revealed by the wall between the living room and the family room. It folds flat to open the two rooms into a 40-foot width, adjoining a terrace to further expand the area.

That people who are going deaf seldom have the same degree of loss of hearing in both ears.

That 300 years ago a London advertisement recommended the drinking of coffee as a treatment for eyecores, coughs or colds, consumption, dropsy, gout, scurvy, headaches and a democratic disease then known as the King's Evil.

That David Atkinson, the baritone, says "an optimist is a guy who thinks he can win a sweepstake but can't get killed in a car crash."

That a century ago girls used to go through the ordeal of swallowing candle wax in the hope of achieving a pallid complexion, then in the height of fashion.

That the French claim the original mint juleps were animated with cognac before bourbon was born.

That whiskers of the sea lion are prized as toothpicks by the Chinese.

That actor Tom Ewell defines women's girdles as "the difference between facts and figures."

That the best refuge during an electrical storm in open country is inside a car. But don't make the mistake of parking it under a tree.

That 10 million Americans are operated on every year... and the average person undergoes some kind of surgery four times during his life.

That America had to pay $6,000,000 to clear its main highways of debris left by Memorial Day travelers.

That iced tea was invented in St. Louis during its 1904 World's Fair. Americans now drink 10 billion glasses of this beverage every summer.

That a car hits a pedestrian every 3 1/2 minutes in the United States. If you drive an automobile, the chances are you'll be involved in a fairly serious accident once every seven years.

That it was Diogenes who when asked what he would take to let a man give him a blow on the head, replied, "A helmet."

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wright, 611 East Beacon, have a year around brilliant green lawn, thriving new trees, shrubs and roses, proclaiming gardeners live here in the buff brick home. The honey pale woodwork throughout the house, the delicately veined Portuguese marble facing on the fireplace, the subtle wall colorings, furnishings and accessories lead visitors to a unique kitchen, drop down electric cooking units, all trays and drawers on ball bearing, a jump-mixer, even a slide-out can opener.

Another stop on the tour was the spacious yellow brick and marble home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Muller, 615 West Broadway, on an expansive lawn setting, with gaily colored hammocks under huge old trees, along with bright colored planter boxes at the door, where the guests stepped into the extensive living room and an "L"-shaped porch furnished for real living.

Comfort was everywhere, especially upstairs in a combined living room-bedroom, where TV could be viewed from a bed. An unusual feature was a built-in vacuum cleaner that cleverly deposits pencils, marbles, etc., into a box in the basement and lint up and out of the chimney.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson's home at 1600 West Seventh, a red and white Connecticut-style farm house in a woody setting had a white picket fence with an open gate luring the guests into an antique furnished home. Large arrangements of spring flowers on the tables emphasized the hominess as did a dapple gray bowl piled high with hand-blown, vividly colored glass balls. Altogether this was the biggest appearing interior from the littles appearing outside on the tour. Mr. Ferguson was in his pining for a rose show.

At 1613 West 11th, Dr. and K. L. Holdren's brick ranch-style home lawn edged on one side by a colorful ravine planting, amidst rocks and willow trees. Exciting color was used in the roomy house. Especially eye-catching was the purple, gray and green master bedroom and its adjoining bath decorated in shades of lavender. Mrs. C. H. Joy directed the serving of punch and cookies from a table covered with a maderia cutwork cloth, the punch bowl encompassed by a wreath of Fashion roses and a colonial nosegay was on the coffee table.

Assisting hostesses in the homes were past presidents: Mrs. T. H. Yount, Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, Mrs. J. W. Atkinson, Mrs. Fred Brummet, Mrs. William Rich, Mrs. W. G. Borne, Mrs. L. H. Hodges, Mrs. P. L. Strole, Mrs. J. W. Maunders, Mrs. Nathan Jones, Mrs. Ernest Martin, Mrs. C. L. Carter, Mrs. B. E. Heacock, Mrs. R. E. Gerster, Mrs. J. C. Saunders, Mrs. O. J. Smith and Mrs. Ida Harriman.

Gilded Paper Mementoes

Relatives of Sedalians gone to their great reward retain as mementoes paper certificates which indicate some substantial citizens of yesteryear were not averse to taking a flyer on lead, gold or copper mine investments, the latter word being used advisedly.

All these investors ever got out of the venture was that gilded certificate their children or grandchildren now possess as a relic of those old days when there was more gullibility over investments.

But the one-time high powered stock salesman has not become a vanishing American—the kind whose offerings still consist of shares which, according to the sales pitch, are dead certain to double or triple in value in practically no time.

Even so, there are many stock salesmen who have good standing in a community and whose advice concerning investments can be considered honorable and honest.

But there are strangers who come along with high powered talk to clip the gullible—and the greedy, too, as an article in The Exchange, a publication of the New York Stock Exchange, points out. The article also proposes a series of apt questions you might ask when you are approached by someone eager to make you rich in a hurry. One question is, "If this stock is going to be worth $2 in 60 days, why are you selling it to me for 50 cents?" Another is, "If this mine is so jam-packed with such high grade uranium ore, why can't you make a quick fortune by offering it to a single metal refining corporation, instead of peddling the stock for pennies all over the country?" Still another is, "When did I get so lucky that I should be selected to share in this tremendous bonanza?"

The crux of the whole thing is: Investigate before you invest. The stock exchanges, government agencies, and others are doing their best to protect investors, but they can't do it all.

Before buying any stock, talk to a reputable broker and get the fullest possible information. As the Exchange says, "Yours must be the final word . . . Unless you're willing to find out exactly what you're buying, and from whom, that final word had better be NO!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike's White House Budget Exceeds Harry's

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON—There's been a lot in the papers about different departmental budgets, not much about the President's own White House budget.

During the 1952 campaign, Ike used to stand on the rear platform of his special train and tell how, when he was a boy in Kansas, he and his brothers dropped a nickel. It slipped through the cracks of the porch, and they got down on hands and knees to fish it out.

General Eisenhower told the story over and over again—until newsmen knew it by heart—as an illustration of how he would save every nickel if elected.

The year that Ike was elected—1952, the last year under Truman—the cost of running the White House was $1,883,000. This year Ike is asking $2,051,000 for servants, gardeners, food, and other housekeeping expenses for the 1958 budget.

The cost of his office has increased even more.

The last year of Truman, the executive office cost $8,166,000. Eisenhower's first year it was $8,725,000. This year, 1957, it is $10,715,000, and for the next year the President is asking $12,047,000.

This does not include his two helicopters which are charged to the Defense Department, his private plane which is charged to the Air Force, his military aides and staffs which are charged to the Pentagon, nor his chauffeurs which are charged to the Army. The telegraphers and code room cryptographers were civilians under FDR and Truman but were put under the Army by Ike. It now takes double the number of Army personnel to do what civilians once did.

Figures on the total White House staff are not available, but it's estimated that the overall figure has about doubled, though this does not show in the budget, because so much personnel is borrowed from other departments.

The White House has grown under each succeeding president so that it now occupies the building which once housed the entire State, War, and Navy Departments, adjacent to the White House. Plans are even under discussion to tear this building down and replace it with a modern office building in order to house the ever-growing White House offices.

They Need Billy Graham
U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen, best-informed diplomat we have ever sent to Russia, got only nine minutes with President Eisenhower during his recent stay in the U.S.A. Ike did not seem particularly interested in talking to him about our chief rival.

Barbara Ward, British-born authoress, got 30 minutes. In great detail, she told the President about her recent trip through Africa. The President listened carefully, said nothing until the very end. Then he remarked:

"What those people need is Billy Graham."

Postal Go-Round
A Colorado official who waited two months without an answer from Sen. Dennis Chavez (D., N.M.) has finally learned why Chavez didn't answer his letter. It's probably the greatest postal merry-go-round in Summerfield history.

The state official, Ival V. Goslin, of the Upper

Colorado River Commission, had written March 12, asking permission to testify before Chavez' public works committee on a bill to create a federal outdoor recreation commission.

Two months later, Goslin's badly battered letter finally turned up on the desk of Sen. James E. Murray (D., Mont.) one minute after Murray had convened the hearing on the outdoor recreation commission bill in his Senate interior committee.

Here's what had happened to Goslin's two-month-old letter:

1—It arrived in Chavez' office on March 19, was then forwarded via the Senate post office to Murray, whose interior committee had been assigned the bill in which Goslin was interested.

2—By mistake, the Senate post office sent the letter to former Illinois Congressman James C. Murray in Chicago.

3—Realizing the error, the ex-Congressman marked the envelope for return to Senator James E. Murray of Montana at the U.S. Capitol in Washington. But in some mysterious way it wound up in the Montana state Capitol in Helena.

4—The state Capitol addressed it to the U.S. Capitol in Washington, but by error wrote "Congressman" James E. Murray instead of "Senator."

5—For the second time, the Senate post office in Washington sent the letter to ex-Illinois Congressman Murray in Chicago.

6—Ex-Congressman Murray again addressed the envelope to Senator Murray in Washington. But for the third time the Senate post office returned it to ex-Congressman Murray in Chicago.

7—Finally ex-Congressman Murray made sure that the letter would get to the senator. He placed the letter in a new envelope and addressed it to Senator James E. Murray, Room 111, Senate office building, Washington, D.C. Senator Murray finally got it on May 15—two months after it was written, and just one minute after the hearing at which Goslin wanted to testify had begun.

Formosa Go-Round
Latest State Department wisecrack: "John Foster Dulles should call on Bill Knowland, the senator from Formosa, and ask for an official apology." . . . Chiang has talked about paying the U.S.A. an official visit this year. It's now out . . . Chiang is just as unpopular on Formosa as Americans are. When he first arrived, his troops were credited with killing some 60,000 native Formosans. The native Formosans are indigenous to the island and is not Chinese. For many years Formosa was under China, then it was taken by Japan, now is under Chiang Kai-Shek and the U.S.A. During all the talk of who should govern Formosa, nothing has been said about the long-suffering Formosan people. . . . Maybe they should govern themselves. . . . Chiang's two brothers-in-law, T. V. Soong and H. H. Kung, are reputed to be among the wealthiest men in the world. They live in New York, haven't been to the Far East for years. . . . Dean Acheson as secretary of state consistently argued that the Chinese mainland could not be retaken from Formosa. President Truman supported him. Acheson claimed Chiang's biggest mistake was in failing to lift the poverty-stricken masses of the Chinese people. As a result he has no real following in China.

Guest Editorial—
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: Interesting Circles. The duty and responsibility of equipping the child—from its first appearance on the scene—to live harmoniously and effectively in its corner of the world rests with the parents. A few years later this task begins to be—may, must be—shared with the teacher. And the child enters a stage in his development under the tutelage of what surely is one of the most important partnerships in the world.

In the United States this partnership has come to be expressed and furthered by way of organization—by way of a startlingly enormous organization, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. And this "Parent-Teachers Association," is well over 10 million strong.

That this strength is not a passive, static one is shown by growth statistics. The PTA has gained half a million members since the last convention; it has doubled its membership within the last 10 years. An organization must have a dynamic purpose to nourish a growth so vigorous and so sustained.

Chief among the PTA's aims is to bring into closer relationship the home and the school. It might be said that through its more than 42,000 local associations PTA is extending the family circle to include the school and enlarging the classroom to include the home.

A Gift for Culture
Greece, land of historic culture, is ready to give to the Council of Europe about 25 acres of land in Delphi to be used as a cultural center.

Delhi, near Mount Parnassus and sacred to the ancient Muses, was the seat of the Delphic Oracle whose reputed ability to answer private and public questions brought persons from all over the world of that day.

This offer may revive the Delphic spirit with its unifying influence and given an opportunity for people of different cultures, nations, and languages to meet in an atmosphere of peace as they did in ancient times. The grant of land is an answer to the Council of Europe's request, the only condition being that the plans for buildings near the archaeological sites should be approved by the Direction of Archaeology which comes under the Greek Ministry of Education.

That is as it should be in order to prevent an Empire State building or a ranch type house from being erected next to one with the traditional Ionic, Doric, or Corinthian pillars.

The oracle at Delphi is destined to a rebirth and no doubt will become a popular place to visit.

The World Today

British Trade Order Is a Jolt to U. S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Washington (AP)—The British jolted this government with the announcement yesterday they were lifting the ban on around 200 items their businessmen could sell to the Red Chinese.

Some easing of restrictions was expected. The jolt was in the amount. Japan and other American allies no doubt will follow the British. The United States will continue its flat ban on any American trade with the Chinese Communists.

Before the Korean War, the United States and its allies agreed not to sell Russia or the Soviet bloc strategic materials—materials the Communists could use for building up their war-making power. That ban still stands.

In 1951, during the Korean War, the United States and Britain, plus most of their West European allies and Japan, also agreed not to sell any strategic materials to Red China.

But they put wider restrictions on Red China than on Russia. They agreed not to sell the Chinese Communists items that would be used to build up their industrial programs. For example: locomotives, tractors and the like.

When the Korean War ended, the British, anxious to boost their trade and their economy, began to press for eased restrictions on Red China trade. They've applied pressure for three years. This is one of their arguments:

It's all right to retain the ban on strategic materials. It's a farce to sell nonstrategic items, like tractors, to Russia but not to Red China. If Russia can buy them, the Chinese can buy them from Russia.

Meanwhile, the British have been selling the Chinese Communists consumer goods like chemicals, wooltops and certain electrical appliances, such as X-ray equipment. In return they get dried eggs, tea and textile yarns.

But Japan also has strong economic reasons for wanting some of the Red China trade restrictions lifted. For example: Japan has a steel shortage which puts heavy inflationary pressure on its economy.

Red China reportedly has refused to help Japan ease the steel shortage -- by selling it iron ore -- until Japan sells embargoed heavy machinery and ships needed in Red China's industrial program.

So the Eisenhower administration was in a squeeze: between Allied pressure to ease up on the trade bans a bit and pressure from Congress to maintain the highest possible restrictions on all free world trade with Red China.

President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan talked about it at their Bermuda meeting in March. Macmillan went home and told the British they had reached no agreement.

Nevertheless, on April 20 the Eisenhower administration announced it had agreed to negotiate with its allies on reducing the number of items banned from sale to Red China.

But -- while the administration was willing to talk of easing some restrictions on Red China trade, it wanted its allies to agree to tighten up on what they'd sell to Russia. Talks were held in Paris.

Yesterday the British apparently went far beyond what the State Department had in mind about easing some restrictions on trade with Red China.

Now the Chinese Communists can buy from the British tractors, trucks, locomotives, small electric generators and a wide range of other goods which can be used in developing Red China's industry. This will not include so-called strategic goods.

Dr. Jordan Says

Utmost Vigilance Needed In Constant War On Rabies

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
Most human cases of rabies or hydrophobia have been acquired from the bites of infected or rabid dogs, but the virus which causes rabies has also been found in foxes, cattle, skunks, cats, horses, squirrels, sheep and other creatures.

As a matter of fact there have been several cases of rabid bats biting humans in the past few years.

With this wide distribution of the rabies virus and because the preventive treatment of a person who has been bitten is not without risks (though much less dangerous than not to be treated at all) we cannot afford to let up on preventive measures or to ignore bites or scratches which might possibly have been made by an infected animal.

The origin of our modern efforts to combat rabies occurred in a Paris hospital December 10, 1880. A child was admitted to the hospital on that date with muscular spasms, restlessness, shuddering at the least breath of air, convulsions and terrific thirst accompanied by complete inability to swallow. This child victim of rabies died by suffocation from mucus 24 hours later.

Shocked by this and other tragic deaths from dog or wolf bites, principally in children, the famous French scientist, Louis Pasteur, collected some of the mucus from this child about four hours after death. He mixed this with water and injected it into some rabbits. The rabbits died in less than 36 hours. The saliva from these animals was again collected and injected into other rabbits with similar results.

Lengthy work in the laboratory and with animals followed. Finally Pasteur developed a vaccine which he thought might be effective.

Several years later a nine-year-old boy from Alsace, who had been bitten by a rabid dog, was brought to the hospital. He had suffered 14 bites and was in great pain. All agreed that he was doomed to a horrible death if nothing could be done. Consequently, this boy, Joseph Meister, got the vaccine. He lived.

Since that time much work has been done on the vaccine. The fact that someone can be bitten by a rabid animal and given the vaccine after the bite in time to prevent the disease with slight risk means that it is essential to examine any animal biting a person.

The attack on rabies also includes elimination of the disease insofar as possible in those animals which carry it. Foxes should be trapped where rabies is common, since they may give it to dogs. Dogs should be vaccinated against rabies.

However, the identification of rabies in bats and knowledge that they can and do bite human beings has introduced a new and additional possible hazard. The horrible nature of the disease and the complete ineffectiveness of treatment, once symptoms have developed, makes the application of all our present knowledge absolutely essential.

Meet In Korea After 12 Year Separation

SEOUL (AP)—Two brothers—Lt. Clifford Shaw of Lewisburg, Tenn., and Sgt. Buford Shaw of Temple, Tex., were both stationed at 8th Army headquarters here for months but neither was aware of the other.

Then a Red Cross field director delivered an emergency message to Lt. Shaw that his grandmother had died.

"I have the same message for a Buford Shaw. Are you related?" the Red Cross official asked.

The reunion followed. It was the first time the brothers had seen each other in 12 years.

Employment of Physically Handicapped Encouraged

By Esther Van Wagener Tutty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — One big employer and one big labor leader agree on one thing: "Only a beginning has been made on the employment of the physically handicapped."

Henry G. Riter, III, president of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., of West Orange, New Jersey, and A. J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists AFL-CIO, talked about what is yet to be done at the Tenth Annual Meeting of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped which brought representatives to Washington from 33 states. The employer approach stressed the increasing shortage of manpower estimating that the gross national product of $360 billion contemplated for 1965 will require the employment of 74 million persons as compared with 64 million today. "So we are going to need both our physically handicapped and workers over 65," he predicted.

He also warned: (1) while top management is sold on hiring the handicapped, further acceptance is needed by foremen and fellow workers; (2) an educational job needs to be done among the handicapped themselves to encourage rehabilitation and employment; (3) a greater understanding is needed among all economic groups on better use of human resources.

The labor leader's approach was even more practical. Fewer than a dozen states have "second injury" funds thus leaving employers open to unfair liability for injuries to handicapped persons.

Mr. Hayes also is distressed that only 30 rehabilitation centers exist today and all have been developed within the last ten years.

Another serious bottleneck was seen in a shortage of qualified specialists in physical medicine and rehabilitation. It is his conclusion that the workman's compensation laws need modernization.

Both were full of praise in the general change in attitude toward the employment of the physically handicapped, largely inspired by the President's committee.

The Governor's Committee of Missouri made its 10 year report which was presented to President Eisenhower by General Melvin Maas. A summary reads: Highlighting the activities in Missouri in 1956 was the Regional Conference of the President's Committee, held in Kansas City. Governors' Committee representatives from Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Dakota convened to discuss common problems and to exchange ideas. The meeting acted as a "kick-off" for a year of redoubled effort to encourage employment of the physically handicapped.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

The season is fast approaching when children who go to amusement parks will want to ride on the merry-go-round. For our little ones there seems to be a great thrill in going round and round. They have not yet learned about boredom. Neither have they discovered the satisfaction of broad service in a changing world.

As adults we do not want to go round and round on a circular or repetitive track through life. We want new experiences. We want to mingle with many people. When we walk with God we want to broaden our service so that each experience offers new opportunity. Opportunity lies before everyone. We do not have to seek it. We merely have to find the way to make the most of every moment in the service of God and our fellowmen.

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

At a time when there is much stress upon brotherhood, and a too conspicuous lack of it both at home and abroad, it is worth while to consider the Bible, and especially the Jewish scriptures of the Old Testament.

In this, as in many other matters, the Bible has a pioneer aspect as a textbook of what ought to be, and a warning of what happens when what ought to be is not.

The New Testament, of course, is the crowning treatise of love and brotherhood, in the example and teaching of Jesus. And such examples as offered by the apostolic brothers, James and John, and Peter and Andrew, are of particular interest.

But the Old Testament, from the stories of Abel and Cain, of Jacob and Esau, and the nobler examples of Moses and Aaron, and of David and Jonathan, tells of brothers, in tragedy and triumph. And there are the brothers of Joseph, famous and infamous, one at least of whom tried to save him, though the others sold him into slavery.

This is a part of the record of blood brothers, but brotherhood in the Old Testament had a significant meaning in the conception of a closely knit Jewish social life, in which individuals had a mutual responsibility for the welfare of all.

Laws and regulations seemed designed chiefly to protect the individual from the wrongdoing of others, and to protect all in the common life from the wrongdoing of the individual.

A high conception of community welfare prevailed, but reprisal by stoning, and other methods, was harsh and terrible when individuals sinned against the community.

But all this, so commendable within the Jewish community, had little to do with those outside, the Gentiles who knew not the law.

And the lack of brotherhood in the ancient tribal days is reflected and perpetuated in the intense hostility in our own time between Israel and the surrounding Arab nations.

The later, great Jewish prophets had a larger and finer world vision. In Israel all nations of the world were to be blessed.

Sometimes, it seems to me, world Jewry today, with many notable exceptions, is concerned more with the law than with Israel's later, greatest prophets, and the greatest, noblest Psalm.

The Old Testament in its highest teachings ought to be providing some more effective solvent of interracial and anti-brotherhood strife.

But even high-minded Jewish idealism could not be a very effective solvent as long as Arab hostility endangers the very life of Jews in their homeland. Until the Moslem and Arab worlds are won to more brotherly and peaceful attitudes the cause of brotherhood and peace will suffer.

Meanwhile what is the rest of the world and the Christian world doing about it? I fear by no means enough. But there is one notable movement that points the way. I have not space to record it here, but for readers who have access to Time magazine of April 22nd I commend attention to the story of what a group of Roman Catholic monks in the Atlas Mountains are doing, under the leadership of Dom Denis Martin, to promote brotherhood and understanding.

Cardinals Split Doubleheader

Three Incidents Could Have Changed Results of Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A special defensive shift against Stan Musial fizzled, Wally Moon suffered a mental lapse, and Ken Boyer missed a diving catch that could have made a lot of difference as the St. Louis Cardinals split a Memorial Day doubleheader with the first place Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Cardinals took the first game 7-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Willard Schmidt, but were blasted 7-3 by Cincinnati home runs in the second game of the doubleheader that drew 28,618, largest St. Louis crowd this season.

The Tigers swept a doubleheader against the Kansas City Athletics at Detroit, 6-5 and 3-2, with the help of a throwing error by Kansas City's Vic Power.

The first game went ten innings and relief pitcher Lou Slaughter, brought up from the minors a few weeks ago to bolster the Tiger bullpen, won his own game by belting a home run in the extra inning. The blow was off Wally Burnette.

Frank Bolling of Detroit hit two home runs in the nightcap but the deciding run was scored on the wild throw by Power, normally a first baseman but playing right field for the injured Harry Simpson.

Wally Moon of the Cards hit safely in both games to extend his consecutive game hitting streak to 23 games, longest in the majors. But he wasted a hit in the second inning of the nightcap by failing to run out a drive to the right field corner, thinking it was foul. He was thrown out at first and his hitting streak was in danger until he doubled three innings later.

Two were out and two were on in the seventh inning of the second game when Cincinnati's Gus Bell rammed a liner to center. Boyer, recently moved to the outfield from third base, tried to make a diving catch but slipped just before reaching the ball. It bounced off him and went for a three-run inside-the-park home run that put the Redlegs ahead.

Apparently unnerved, Wilmer Vinegar Bend Mizell then yielded another home run to the next man, Frank Robinson, and was yanked. Mizell still hasn't won, or finished, a game this season.

In the eighth inning of the opener, Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbetts used four outfielders and no shortstop against Musial, who promptly singled through the vacant shortstop position. The Redlegs have used the shift against Musial a couple of times in the past, but this was the first time it backfired. The single did not drive in a run and Musial died on base.

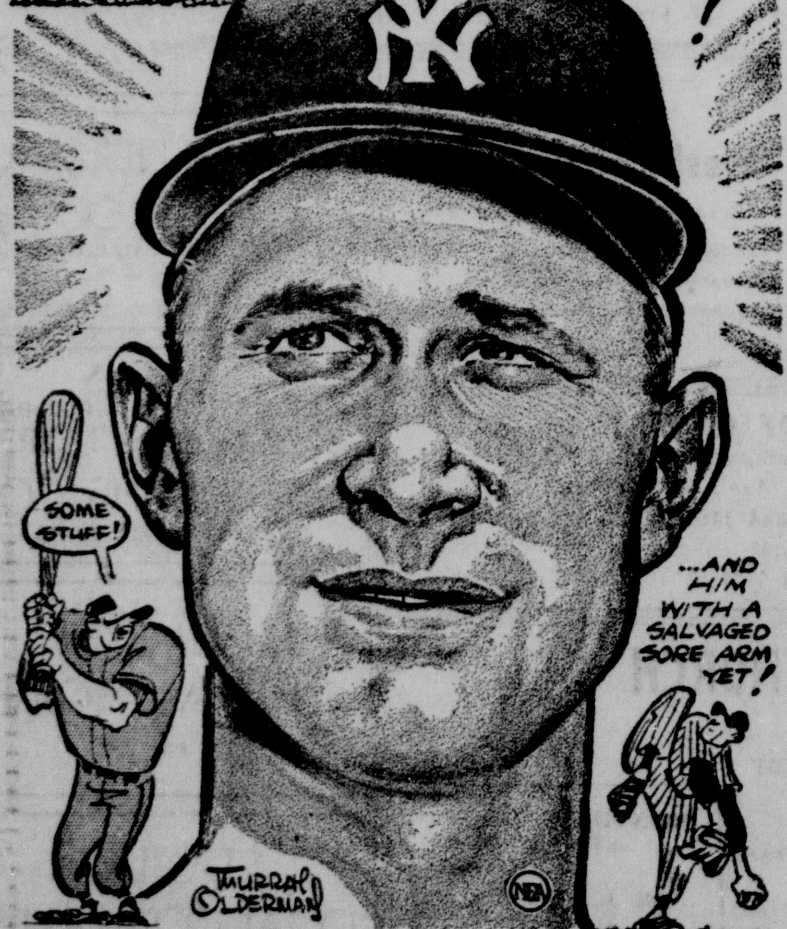

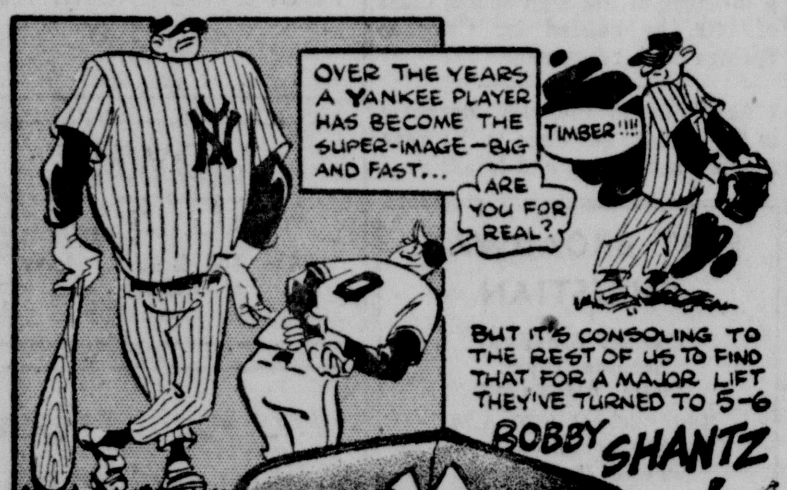

Swiden Wins Split Decision Over Spaeth

DALLAS — Art Swiden of Pittsburgh won a split decision in 10 rounds over Bobby Spaeth of Topeka, Kan., here last night.

There were no knockdowns. A crowd of 1,500 saw the bout which was supposed to have been held last week but was postponed because of rain.

Spaeth weighed 186 poundsn Swiden 192.

Pacific Coast League to Seek Reparations

SAN FRANCISCO — The Pacific Coast League isn't going to move National League teams to San Francisco and Los Angeles but will seek reparations, its president says.

Leslie O'Connor said yesterday his league would expect the National League "to pay just compensation," which it "can well afford" in view of the public funds which are being "proffered to induce the taking of PCL territory."

O'Connor specifically singled out San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher in saying that local politicians, with National League officials, are guilty of "brutally handling" the negotiations. He made it clear that the term "local politicians" also applied to those in Los Angeles.

The National League has voted approval of moving the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles and the New York Giants to San Francisco.

O'Connor remarked that Christopher didn't even have "the courtesy to consult us" during negotiations leading to that vote.

"He has never offered a local organization with its headquarters in San Francisco (the PCL) help. Then he hands a bunch of Easterners 10 million dollars on a silver platter."

Christopher agreed that he had not consulted O'Connor, saying: "If I hadn't joined with Los Angeles to make these overtures, major league ball wouldn't have decided to come to the Pacific Coast."

"I had to contend with people who said all kinds of things — that we didn't have any chance. Now that we have a chance, it seems to me we should forget this petty squabbling and get major league baseball out here."

Christopher said he didn't offer help to the PCL because he "didn't think they needed any."

Four Leaders Paired For Third Round of Virginia Beach Open

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., — Four of the seven leaders including front-running Wiffie Smith of St. Clair, Mich., were paired in the featured foursome here today in the third round of the five-day $12,000 Virginia Beach Round Robin Golf Tournament.

Miss Smith fired a one-under-par 70 over the 6,065-yard Cavalier course yesterday to pick up 26 points and boost her 36-hole total to 37 points — 16 in front of runner-up Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

Today's featured foursome paired Miss Smith (142 and 37 points); Miss Crocker (145 and 8); Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., (147 and 11); and Kathy Cornelius of Dayton, Ohio (148 and 11).

Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kas., (153 and minus 16), is paired with Louis Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., (149 and 14); Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S. C., (151 and minus 17) and Ruth Jensen of Seattle, Washington (171 and minus 72).

Classic Winner To Quit Racing

New Type Car May Change Racing Autos

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indianapolis Motor Speedway will have to get along hereafter without "Dad" Sam Hanks, who won the 500-mile race yesterday on his 12th attempt, but it won't soon forget the 42-year-old driver.

His record of 135,601 miles an hour, compared with the late Bill Vukovich's 130,840 mark of 1954, could stand for a long time.

Hanks and a splendid experimental auto which probably will revolutionize race car design were just too good for the rest of the field.

Jim Rathmann, 26-year-old Miami driver, tried desperately to catch Hanks for the last 64 laps but Hanks was pulling away when he finished 17 1/2 seconds in front.

Rathmann, who also finished second in 1952, said something broke in the frame of his car and it "shimmied" so much on the turns that he couldn't match the front man from Pacific Palisades, Calif.

Hanks climbed off of his Belond Special, a horizontal engine dream by George Salih, and said, "That's it. I'm all done."

The lean, graying six-footer said he'll probably race in Italy's Monza Autodrome "500" June 29 and finish his contract this year with the Mercury stock car team. Then he'll quit racing.

Until yesterday, Sam often was a contender but never won the pot.

This time, after some preliminary shuffling for first place by Pat O'Connor, North Vernon, Ind.; Troy Ruttman, the 1952 winner from Lynwood, Calif.; and Paul Russo of Canoga Park, Calif., Hanks took charge.

Sam led a total of 141 laps, good for $21,150 in lap prizes ($150 for each lap led). His total earnings for himself and Salih won't be announced until the victory dinner tonight. Their total take may reach $100,000 of an anticipated $300,000 purse.

There were only four mishaps during the actual race yesterday and rookie Mike Magill of Hadonfield, N. J., who suffered a back injury, was the only person hurt. He hit the wall on the north-west turn. Al Herman of Allen-town, Pa., also crashed trying to miss Don Edmonds, Anaheim, Calif.

Jimmy Daywalt of Indianapolis hit the wall for the second straight year. Keller, who survived the 1955 wreck that killed Vukovich, also was unharmed yesterday when his car hit the wall on the southwest turn. Edmonds spun harmlessly into the infield.

NEW YORK — Harold Johnson, an experienced boxer on a comeback, and Clarence Hinant, a young slugger on the way up, meet tonight in a heavyweight bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

The 10-round match part of the usual Friday night radio-TV NBC series will start 9 p.m. EST. Because Billy Graham's revival is filling Madison Square Garden, it was arranged to stage this show at St. Nick's. Special permission from the New York State Athletic Commission and Teddy Brenner, promoter of the Monday night fights, was given the International Boxing Club for the switch.

Johnson, 28, whipped Burt Whitehurst last December in his first fight since May 6, 1955, when he was stopped by Julie Mederos in two rounds. The Mederos bout touched off an investigation that resulted in suspension of boxing in Pennsylvania for some time. It was testified that Johnson was drugged and the boxers claimed he had eaten a "bitter orange" before the bout.

Pierce May Lead League And Boost Chicago White Sox

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

Billy Pierce finally is coming into his own, perhaps as the best pitcher in the American League, after a decade of taking a back seat to Cleveland's long-reigning staff and New York Yankee standouts.

With the 30-year-old southpaw on the move, the Chicago White Sox may be ready to come out of the shadows.

Pierce has had his moments — leading the AL in strikeouts (186) in 1953 and in earned-run average (4.17) in '55 — but it wasn't until last year that he finally had a 20-victory season. Most of the time, he was just "a good little lefty" behind Cleveland's Feller, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia and Yankees' Reynolds, Raschi, Lopat and Ford.

Now he's leading the league (and the majors) in victories, claiming his eighth with a three-hit, nine-strikeout (which upped his AL-leading total to 57) job against Cleveland that gave the first-place White Sox a sweep of the Memorial Day doubleheader. Pierce's 2-1 victory, nailed on his own RBI single in the fifth, followed a 6-4 opening success.

The New York Yankees gained a full share of second place, defeating Washington 9-0 after the Senators had won their fourth in a row 5-1 in the opener. The Indians slipped to third, Detroit held on to fourth, defeating Kansas City 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2. Boston remained fifth, half a game behind the Tigers, by beating Baltimore 7-6 in 10 and 16-5.

Everybody split in the National League, leaving Cincinnati 1 1/2 ahead of Brooklyn, two ahead of Milwaukee and three up on Philadelphia.

The Redlegs won the nightcap 7-3 at St. Louis, after losing 7-2. Brooklyn won 4-3 at Pittsburgh, then lost 2-1. Milwaukee was beaten 4-2 by Chicago, after defeating the Cubs 5-2. Philadelphia nipped New York 2-1 in 10, but the Giants won the second game 8-1.

Pierce didn't allow a hit after the fifth inning. A walk and George Strickland's triple tied it 1-all for Cleveland in the fifth, but two errors and an intentional walk loaded the bases against loser Mike Garcia and set up Pierce's clinching single.

Dick Donovan, who one-hit Cleveland last Saturday, was tagged for 11 hits in the opener.

Jim Lemon hit a two-run homer, and a pair of errors by Yankee Gerry Coleman produced two more runs for the Senators as Camillo Pascual beat New York for the first time. He gave only two hits before leaving the game in the sixth when hit by loser Al Cicotte's liner. The Yankees bagged the second game with a five-run third for Bobby Shantz, who won his fifth with a five-hitter and drove in two runs.

Jackie Jensen won the opener for the Red Sox with the first of his two home runs. He was 5-for-7, driving in four runs and scoring six. Bob Porterfield won his first, in relief, in the opener, and Dick Sisler gained his fourth victory as Billy Klaus and d. Jim Piersall matched Jensen's two-run homer in the afterpiece.

Charley Maxwell's two-run double brought Detroit a ninth-inning tie in the opener and reliever Lou Slaughter then won his first with his first home run in a five-year major league career. Frank Bolling hit two home runs in the second game, with Paul Foytack winning his fifth on a throwing error by Vic Power.

George Crowe, Gus Bell, Frank Robinson and Ed Bailey homered for the Redlegs in the second game against loser Wilmer Mizell. Bell's was a three-run inside the park home. Willard Schmidt stopped Cincinnati with four hits for his fourth victory in the opener, backed up by Don Blasingame, who was 4-for-4.

The Pirates beat the Dodgers on singles by Bill Mazerowski and Frank Thomas in a two-run fifth against Sandy Koufax. Bob Purkey won his third-all against the Brooks — by striking out pinch-hitter Elmer Valo with the tying run on first in the ninth. Duke Snider's two-run homer and Clem Labine's relief brought Sal Maglie his second victory in the first game.

Relief pitcher Turk Lown came on in the ninth with the bases loaded and two out to nail the nightcap for the Cubs and young Don Elston. Lown ran the count to 3-0 against Felix Mantilla, then struck him out. Ray Crone gained his first complete game for Mil-

Ex-Actress Is Secretary To Film Star

By Bob THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — How would you like to be secretary to a star?
Barbara Salisbury, pretty girl Friday for June Allyson, loves it. At first it seemed like strange casting for Barbara, who had been an actress, model and show-girl herself.

But the fact is that Barbara has been an almost indispensable helper in the Allyson career for four years.
Barbara was born in San Francisco, reared in Rockford, Ill., and started in show business before she was out of high school. "My family were old friends of Bing Crosby's family," she said. "I got a contract with Paramount when I was still in school."

What happened to her at Paramount? Nothing. She was one of a vast number of starlets at the lot in those lush, prewar days. Only Susan Hayward, Ellen Drew and Evelyn Keyes of that crew made good. The others were dropped, Barbara included.

Still anxious to try her luck, she went to New York for a summer and clicked as a Conover model, got a job in "Hellzapoppin'" and had a stand as a Copacabana girl.

A mutual friend, writer Bill Bowers, introduced her to Dick Powell and June Allyson one night at a Hollywood cafe. When June left MGM, Barbara started with her as secretary.

What does she do?
"I write letters of a personal nature, make appointments, break appointments, keep June informed of her engagements, shop for the house (not the groceries), buy things for the children, shop for gifts, and answer the phone."

She also helps June study her lines. "I've been Jimmy Stewart, Jose Ferrer, David Niven and any number of stars," Barbara laughed. "We get a lot of laughs out of my delivery."

Young Actress Does Not Let Chicken Pox Stop Her TV Show

HOLLYWOOD — Chicken pox almost knocked out last night's Playhouse 90 production on television.
A CBS spokesman said Portland Mason, 8-year-old daughter of actor James Mason, went on in her part although in the early stages of the disease.

She was supposed to be replaced by little Luana Wood, sister of actress Natalie Wood, but at the last moment Luana also came down with chicken pox. Portland, whose case appeared milder, performed on the show and was then rushed home to bed by her mother, actress Pamela Mason, also in the play.

Memorial Day Race Ends in Tragedy When Wheel Flies Off Car

CLARION, Pa. — The feature race of a Memorial Day attraction at a nearby Shippensburg speedway ended in tragedy as a wheel flew off a stock car, literally climbed up a protective netting and bounded into a crowd of spectators — killing two children.

Another child and two adults were injured at the Pinegrove

Speedway about 90 miles north-east of Pittsburgh. The driver involved, Ted Wise, Hubbard, Ohio, was not hurt.

Killed were Mary Lou Lindey, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lindey, Slippery Rock, Pa., and Harold Brunn Jr., 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brunn, Gibsonia, Pa.

Mrs. Mary Gallagher, Butler, Pa., was hospitalized with a head injury but was reported in good condition. The others hurt,

Robert Byers, 12, Reno, Pa., and the Lindey girl's father suffered minor injuries.

Cuban Oil
HAVANA, Cuba (U) — Cuba's infant oil industry is going ahead rapidly, but it still looks like a long time before the country can produce enough to satisfy domestic demands.

The 1956 production was 40 percent above that of 1955. But the output of 540,000 barrels last year was just enough to meet nine days of Cuba's domestic consumption.

Ten million dollars were spent on oil exploration in 1956, compared with $7,500,000 in the preceding year. Cuban and American companies are leading the search for oil.

Visiting Viet Nam Chief Gets Red Carpet From US

By WILLIAM C. DUNNING
NEA Staff Correspondent

A man once told his people, "We ought to be rude in our talk like Americans, and get things done." It is getting the red carpet treatment from the U.S. government.

President go Dinh Diem, pronounced 'n go (as in come 'n go) din d'ee-en, of the Republic of Viet Nam is one of a long line of official guests visiting President Eisenhower this year. After three days in Washington beginning May 8 he is spending a week touring the country.

The shy chief of state of one of Asia's newest republics became president in 1955 when the first national vote ever taken in South Viet Nam threw out the playboy-emperor Bao Dai.

Famed for his struggle against both the Communists and the French in his fight for freedom for Viet Nam, Diem has had the support of the U.S. since first appointed Premier by Bao Dai in June, 1954. He had previously turned down the post four times.

An ardent Catholic, he trained for the priesthood but finally decided on civil service. At 28 he was a provincial governor and at 32 he became Minister of the Interior. He resigned this post when the French refused his request for more national independence.

He is a stocky (5-feet-4, 143 pounds) young looking man of 36, with a shock of black wavy hair. His clothes are western style and he prefers white sharkskin suits.

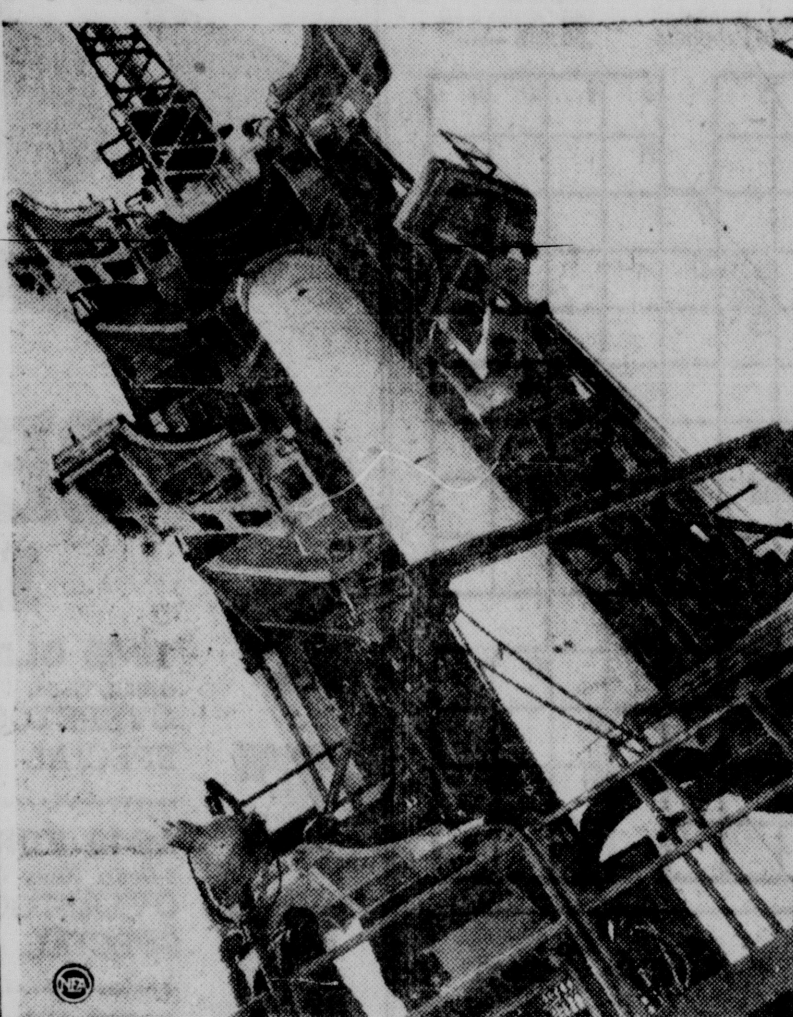

A bachelor, he long ago pledged himself to chastity. He is so uncomfortable around women that he has none on his personal staff. At one time he had a sign hanging on his office door which said "Women Forbidden."

This is Diem's second visit to the U.S. He lived at Maryknoll Junior Seminary in Lakewood, N. J., for two years while trying to get American support for Vietnamese independence.

He was most recently in the news when an attempt was made on his life in February at the opening of a trade fair in Viet Nam. Within five minutes he was calmly delivering a speech promising government efforts to develop a sparsely-settled area of interest to his listeners.

OLD FASHIONED LIGHTHOUSE, which was civilization's first inroad on lonely Cape Canaveral, makes an odd contrast to Viking rocket being towed to missile launching stand.

SPACEPORT, U.S.A.: Last of the Navy's Viking rockets is secured in launching stand which ultimately will be used to launch earth satellite missiles from Cape Canaveral.

Top Secret Florida Sandpit Is Missile Age Birthplace

COCOA BEACH, Fla. — Cape Canaveral, a flat, 12,160-acre patch of nose-shaped sand poking into the green Atlantic a few miles north of here is now the most heavily guarded, significant chunk of real estate in the world.

U. S. taxpayers have already billions of dollars for what's going on there, and the end of spending is nowhere in sight.

What's happening on that sand will alter world history.

A regiment of Soviet spies would probably give their lives for Canaveral's secrets. Russian spies prowling the surrounding water, eagerly seeking the most minute clue to what's going on there.

The spot will probably go down in history as the world's first space port.

Cape Canaveral is the shooting end of the Patrick Air Force Base long range missile test center. From its huge, thick concrete launching pads are being test fired the first series of intermediate range ballistic missiles and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Some time next year, it is hoped, the world's first pace satellite will be launched from one of those pads.

For almost a year now, no newsman has been permitted inside the high gates. The news ban was put into effect when construction started on the special ballistic missile test facilities and the first sections of these missiles began arriving.

No reporter will be given free-run of the area for at least the next 25 years, a security officer at Patrick predicts.

On July 24, 1950, the first missile was fired from Canaveral. It

Ike's Woman Press Aide Inherits Ulcer-Prone Job

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Mrs. Anne Wheaton, an energetic, plump, matronly woman whose hobby is designing her own hats, may, in effect, become the first acting female President of the United States.

She has been picked by President Eisenhower to replace Murray Snyder as assistant White House Press Secretary, to become the first female in that job. Snyder has been made an assistant secretary of defense.

When he had the job, Snyder, in a manner of speaking, was the acting President several times. That happened in Denver on presidential vacations and here, when Snyder happened to find himself the top official temporarily in charge of the office of the President of the United States.

And that's just one of many assorted duties Annie Wheaton is inheriting in that strenuous, ulcer-prone job which has damaged the health of several pretty tough men in the past.

But the chores ahead for her don't scare Mrs. Wheaton, who has been tackling ulcerous public relations job dating back to her work with Mrs. Wendell Wilkie during the presidential campaign of 1940.

Says Annie: "I recall one Sunday morning when photographers caught the Wilkies coming out of church. He refused to let them take any pictures. Everyone became terribly angry and a real scene was brewing right on the steps of the church. Fortunately I was able to pacify the photographers and it all ended O.K. But it was rough going for awhile."

She'll have ample occasion to call upon that experience with photographers because she'll be handling them, plus the TV men, in her new job at the White House. Her boss, Press Secretary W. H. Hagerty, is turning all of Murray's former work right over to Annie, according to present plans.

That also includes frequent, close sessions with Ike when Jim is away or busy on some other top-level matter. But neither does the thought of advising Ike disturb Annie, she says.

"My father, a New York labor commissioner, introduced me to Teddy Roosevelt when I was a girl and since then I have known Coolidge, Hoover, FDR, Harry Truman and of course President Eisenhower."

Annie was a newspaper reporter

Gag Turns Into Serious Event for 3 Office Girls

NEW YORK (AP)—They joked about it. They thought it would be an amusing spectacle. It was sort of an office gag when they decided to go hear Billy Graham.

They were startled by what happened to them. It was so completely unforeseen when the three girls left work at a Manhattan business machines sales office to go to Madison Square Garden.

"I had just wanted to see what he looked like," said blonde Janet Puckhaber, 25.

"We thought there would be a

More Violent Weather Hits In Southwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More violent weather hampered areas in storm-battered Texas and other sections of the Southwest today but severe storms in the central and northern plains abated.

Tornado activity during the night was reported in eastern New Mexico and West Texas. Severe thunderstorms hit many parts of Texas — in the north central, the northwestern section of south central, and areas east of the Pecos River.

Heavy rain, with some hail, and strong winds hit the Southwest storm belt. The Weather Bureau reported hail the size of baseballs pelted the area of Hobbs, N. M., causing considerable property damage.

Wet and stormy weather was reported in wide areas of the country on Memorial Day. Several tornadoes skipped across areas in Texas, Oklahoma, central Iowa and northeastern Colorado. No casualties were reported.

A brief flash flood resulted from torrential rains that drenched Wichita Falls, Tex., last night. More than 3 inches of rain fell in about half an hour in a thunderstorm that followed a blinding dust storm.

The stormy weather in the central and northern plains tapered off considerably during the night and only light showers were reported in most sections.

On the East Coast, a local heavy rainstorm hit Hatteras, N. C., with a 2-inch downpour in less than six hours.

Young Girl Starts Second Year in Coma

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Suzanne Payette has an anniversary today.

She doesn't know about it, however.

The 16-year-old starts her second year in a deep coma, unaware of the outside world, her worried parents, her close call with death. Her conscious life ended a year ago.

It was on May 31, 1956, that she entered a hospital for a routine tonsillectomy. Her heart stopped during surgery and doctors massaged it to bring her back to life.

A life of black, timeless sleep. Her coma was caused when the brain was damaged by lack of oxygen.

Her father Lyle Payette, a furniture salesman, was able to keep her in hospitals for six months — then the money ran out. Suzanne's tenuous hold on life has eaten up the family's insurance, savings, earnings and "all the money we could borrow."

Payette yesterday looked at his daughter, her long hair flowing over the pillow.

"A few doctors have said there might be some hope," he said. "Most say there isn't."

"We don't know. She's our daughter."

"You can't stop hoping when it's your daughter."

Two Day Old Infant Becomes An Aunt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Edward Borsi became a father and grandfather within three days.

Yesterday he welcomed home his grandson, Joseph Paul Castillo, 5 days old. Among the greeters was little Joseph's aunt, Belle Borsi, 7 days old.

Their mothers — also mother and daughter — are Mrs. Borsi 39, and Mrs. Joseph Castillo, 18. They shared the same hospital room.

lot of mass emotion, like clashing cymbals," said brunette Sallie Arnott, 22.

"We were just curious," said red-haired Patty McClain, 21.

There were 17,500 people in the Garden last night, the 16th day of Graham's massive crusade. At his closing appeal to "give your life to Christ," 478 came forward. Among them were the three girls, their faces somber. Down from a balcony they came and up the long aisle to the front. They stood, heads bowed, as Graham said gently:

"Jesus receives you. He loves you. He wanted you."

What had come over the three girls? What had moved them and changed their attitude from one of curious skepticism to a willingness to make a public profession of Christ? None had ever done so before.

It's something that is happening to hundreds nightly at Graham's meetings, and the girls' experience is part of the story of how it happens.

"It was peculiar," Miss Puckhaber said. "It's hard to explain. It's not like I thought it would be at all. I think everybody wants to have a good life. The idea must be there in the first place. But he gets you to wondering if you can do it."

"I felt funny. I wanted to go, but I just sat there. I kept saying to myself, please, I want to go—something please send me. I felt silly."

"I didn't go until the last minute. Then I was scared. I was wondering what was going to happen. I certainly was not in a trance. I just decided that I wanted to do it—that it was an opportunity."

None of them was active in a church in recent times, although all three had religious backgrounds—Miss Puckhaber, Episcopalian; Miss McClain, Roman Catholic; and Miss Arnott, Presbyterian.

"I had broken away from the church," said Miss Puckhaber. "I never went except on special occasions. But from now on, I'm going to get out of that bed on Sunday morning. I know I'm not going to do all I should at jet speed, but if I hadn't done what I did tonight, I know I would have kicked myself every time I thought of it afterward."

"I used to be in church back in my teens, but we all got blasé and know it all," said Miss Arnott. "Now there are so many questions so much to think about, so much to be done. I know I need a lot of guidance and concentration of Christ. For one thing, I'm going to start back to church regularly."

Miss McClain said she too had lapsed in church activity.

"I still don't feel I believe as I should," she said. "I'm not sure of myself. I thought if I went down, it would sway me. But there are certain things I don't believe completely. Just one more step, and I would believe. I don't intend to start going to church regularly, but I do intend to start reading the Bible. And maybe that will make me want to go."

Government Increases Number of Employees

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government had 2,395,764 civilian employees on its payroll in April a net increase of 2,777 over the March total.

This was reported today by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

He said in a statement the civilian agencies carried 1,230,972 workers in April, 6,047 more than in March. But he said the number of employees in the military agencies dropped by 3,270 to an April total of 1,164,792.

Byrd said the federal payroll has averaged 934 million dollars a month for the first nine months of fiscal 1957, which will end June 30. He said the March payroll totaled $918,700,000 compared with 964 million dollars in February.

Boy Shoots Father When He Returns After Long Absence

TAMAQUA, Pa. (AP)—A 14-year-old boy shot his father to death yesterday as the older man broke into the family home from which he had absented himself for some time.

Charles Hayes told police he and his mother were afraid of his father William, 38, "especially since he was out of jail" and that he had threatened him several times on the telephone.

Summoned to the address when the elder Hayes was seen in the neighborhood, police had just left when he broke a window pane and started to enter the living room from an outside porch.

When the officers returned they found Hayes on the window ledge with a .22-caliber bullet in his heart. His wife and two other children, Leonard, 9, and Marlene, 7, were also in the house.

The dead man spent 10 months in the county prison last year on charges of assault and battery on members of his family.

The boy was taken to the county detention home in Pottsville. No charges were filed pending further investigation.

Robert Lawrence, an American, is the conductor of the government-sponsored Presidential Philharmonic Orchestra in Turkey.

Navy Jets Hit, Both Crash

Writer Found Shot to Death In Washington

Woman Confesses; Tells Police Victim 'Made Advances'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Zurab Abdusheli, a Russian writer for Voice of America, was shot to death today in the apartment of a 42-year-old woman.

Police said his body, with five bullet wounds, was found on the floor of the apartment of Miss Edith Louise Hough, a secretary for an investment banking firm here and a free-lance writer.

Abdusheli, 40, was married two weeks ago. His wife told police her husband had called on Miss Hough this morning to offer condolences on the death of Miss Hough's father, a prominent local doctor who died Sunday night in Deland, Fla.

Homicide squad Lt. Lawrence K. Hartnett said Miss Hough gave a rather disjointed account of what happened but quoted her as saying she shot Abdusheli because he had been annoying her.

Hartnett said Miss Hough telephoned police headquarters at 9:43 a.m. and said, "Please come quietly. There has been a shooting in the Woodner. It is not a suicide."

The Woodner, on 16th Street, is a fashionable residential apartment.

Police said Abdusheli had been shot with a .25 caliber automatic pistol. Miss Hough was quoted as saying, "I couldn't stand to see him suffering, so I shot him through the head as he lay on the floor."

Mrs. Abdusheli, who is from New York, said Miss Hough didn't want her husband to come over "but he insisted on going."

Obituaries on Miss Hough's father, Dr. William Hite Hough, appeared in Washington newspapers this morning.

Abdusheli, a Voice of America translator, reportedly had known Miss Hough for several years and lived on the same floor of the Woodner as her apartment until May 1.

Police quoted Miss Hough as saying at first Abdusheli had been annoying her. They said she later told them he had "made advances."

It was not known immediately who owned the .25 caliber death weapon.

Bulletin

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Lean, graying Sam Hanks, dean of the Indianapolis Speedway drivers, smashed the race record and drove the rest of the field into the brick tower to win the 41st running of the 500-mile auto race.

Handsomely Sam, who had been trying to win auto racing's biggest prize since 1940, out-gunned Jim Rathmann in the last stages of what proved to be a two-car race.

The veteran Californian, who had finished second last year and third in 1952 and 1953, set the record—breaking speed at lap marks around 140 miles an hour, close to time trial levels. He was big car racing champion in 1953 and champion of midget car racing in 1941 and 1949.

Rathmann, his closest pursuer through most of the race, is a veteran of 28, whose best showing in eight starts here was second place in 1952.

Hanks, a former Air Force test pilot from Pacific Palisades, Calif., set his record in a radically different new Belong Special. The engine lay on its side. Hanks' vehicle looked flat as a water beetle—but considerably faster.

The 42-year-old Hanks started in 13th place and moved up steadily to take full charge for the last 165 miles.

Jimmy Bryan, the 1956 national champion, finished third behind Rathmann.

Air Force Sergeant Reaches Semifinals In Golf Tournament

FORMBY, England (AP)—Harold Ridgely, a 43-year-old U. S. air force master sergeant from Haverford, Pa., reached the semifinals of the British amateur golf championship today by defeating Leslie McClure of Scotland, 7 and 5.

Ridgely was the first American to go that far in the tournament since Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., won the championship in 1955.

Disarmament Adviser Heads For London

Stassen Outlines US Plan to Permanent Council of NATO

LONDON (AP)—Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, returned to London from Paris today to submit a new American arms control plan to the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee.

Today's scheduled subcommittee session was postponed until Monday. No reason was given for the postponement but a source close to the talks said, "It was no surprise."

Stassen outlined the still-secret plan yesterday to the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and was reported to have won preliminary support from all 14 of the NATO allies.

In Paris, French disarmament delegate Jules Moch denied earlier reports that part of the U.S. proposals called for a ban on the manufacture of nuclear arms except by the three powers which already have them—the United States, Russia and Britain.

The earlier accounts quoted authoritative French sources as saying such provisions would be absolutely unsatisfactory to France.

"There was never any question of the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain forming an exclusive 'atomic club' which would have a monopoly," Moch asserted. "That is not the American policy at all."

Moch declared the American position "is like that of France" and outlined it like this: "We are ready to renounce nuclear trials and possession of nuclear weapons on condition that the three agree not to manufacture or stockpile new arms and reconvert their existing stocks to peaceful uses."

Stassen declined to comment on the Paris talks, saying any statement would be "premature."

Informed sources have said President Eisenhower and Stassen put particular importance on two sections of the reported plan. These were said to be advance registration of troop movements beyond national borders and international regulation of arms sales to third countries.

Informants also said the plan contains a proposal for a beginning on Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection procedure for controlled disarmament. They said the proposal now is to inspect only eastern Siberia and Alaska, but that it had not been put in definite form and still might be changed.

The five nations making up the Disarmament subcommittee are the United States, Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union.

America Honors Its Dead

Travel Is Heavy As Millions Head For Resort Areas; Churches Are Busy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Americans pause today to honor the nation's military dead. Millions, in a holiday mood, relax at home or enjoy opening festivities at beaches and other resort areas.

As usual on Memorial Day, travel is heavy and a watchful eye is being kept on auto and other fatalities accompanying the pleasures of a long weekend.

The weather forecast for most of the nation was fair and mild. Many churches scheduled special services while countless thousands trekked to gravesites to pay homage to their war dead.

Memorial Day, originally a remembrance of the Northerners who died in the Civil War, gradually has come to mean for Americans a salute to the dead of all wars—from the Revolutionary to the Korean.

Parades and other special civic ceremonies abound in communities from coast to coast.

At Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C., a wreath will be laid in President Eisenhower's name at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Acting for the President at the ceremony will be Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles. Eisenhower will spend a quiet day at the White House.

The scenes of savage fighting during the War Between the States will have their special observances—among them Antietam in Maryland and Gettysburg in Pennsylvania.

Overseas, Americans take part in Memorial Day services. In Maryland and Gettysburg in Pennsylvania.

Overseas, Americans take part in Memorial Day services. In Paris, U.S. Ambassador to France Amory Houghton leads a procession to the Arc de Triomphe to lay a wreath on the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier.

Americans and Filipinos in Manila, the Philippine capital, paid reverence to their war dead in the U.S. military cemetery. Jets from the U.S. 13th Air Force headquarters at Clark Field provided an aerial salute.

Americans in Japan and Korea from the U.S. 13th Air Force headquarters at Clark Field provided an aerial salute.

Americans in Japan and Korea spent a quiet Memorial Day. There were no parades or special ceremonies in Japan, but most U.S. Military offices shut down and American schoolchildren had a holiday.

In Korea, Gen. I. D. White, 8th Army commander, told U. S. troops: "We pledge again our energies and capabilities to the preservation of our country's liberty and for the generations yet to come."

This year—marking the 89th annual observance of Memorial Day—many workers get a four-day holiday as offices and plants give Friday off to their employees.

Gambler Is Shot Down Outside His Tavern; Long Police Record

DALLAS (AP)—Charles Lolan Hunsaker, 45, with a long police record as a gambler and procurer, was called from his downtown tavern and shot to death Wednesday night.

Police sought a man of about 40 who fired three shots into Hunsaker's body and fled. An automatic pistol was found at the scene.

At least four persons witnessed the shooting. Hunsaker was sitting in a booth in the St. George bar with a blonde woman. A man tapped him on the shoulder. They talked a few moments and went outside. There a second man talked briefly with Hunsaker, pulled a gun and shot him. The woman fled.

Police records show Hunsaker served a year in the Oklahoma prison at McAlester in 1931 and had been fined for vagrancy and gambling in Oklahoma City between 1952 and 1954. He also had been handled by police at Dallas.

Californian's Home Class Is Approved

Circuit Judge Says Mrs. Schoenheit Has Matched Standards

CALIFORNIA, Mo. (AP)—Circuit Judge William M. Kimberlin has upheld Mrs. Mary L. Schoenheit's contention she is giving her 7-year-old daughter as good an education at home as she can get at school.

Mrs. Schoenheit, a former schoolteacher, argued public schools turn youngsters into "trained seals," all alike.

A magistrate sentenced her to ten days in jail last fall for failing to send Mary to school. Mrs. Schoenheit gave in after a couple of hours at the jail but Ward Driscoll, St. Louis attorney, volunteered to help fight her case.

Driscoll and John Kibbe, county prosecutor, worked out an arrangement by which Mrs. Schoenheit escaped the jail sentence and continued to give Mary her lessons at home pending an appeal to Circuit Court.

Judge Kimberlin said in his five-page decision handed down yesterday that there is no doubt Mary is missing something by not going to school with other children—missing group and social training. He found he had no right to take this into consideration under provisions of Missouri's compulsory school attendance law.

Prosecutor Kibbe pointed out the decision applies only to Mary Schoenheit and her education. He didn't decide immediately if he will appeal to the Missouri Supreme Court.

Schoenheit is an aircraft worker in California. Mrs. Schoenheit said she brought Mary to Missouri because she didn't like California and its schools.

Deadline Near For Disability Applications

Although over 150 disabled people in the Central Missouri area have already applied to have their social security records frozen, many more may lose valuable social security protection if they do not apply before July 1957.

This warning came from Scott Webber, district manager of social security in Sedalia. He explained that an application filed before July 1957 by a disabled worker could be effective as of the time his disability actually started if certain work requirements were met at that time. After June 30, 1957, a disabled person cannot freeze his social security record for a period beginning earlier than one year before the date he applies for the freeze. This means that many workers who have been disabled for a long time will not be able to get their record frozen if they do not apply before June 30, 1957.

Any person in the area who is severely disabled and who worked regularly in work covered by social security before becoming disabled should immediately contact the social security office located at 605 South Massachusetts, Sedalia.

Eighth Death Results From 2-Car Wreck

CUBA, Mo. (AP)—An eighth death resulted today from the collision yesterday of two cars carrying families on holiday trips to see relatives.

Sandra Parsons, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Parsons of Melrose Park, Ill., died in Phelps County Memorial Hospital at nearby Rolla early today. Mrs. Parsons, 30, died late yesterday. Parsons and two other children—Jeany, 6, and Jerry, 4—were hurt but not seriously.

The others killed were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allison and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Byars of Auxvasse, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Watts of Mexico, Mo. The only survivor in their car was Billy Joe Allison, 6.

Parsons hit the Missouri car broadside yesterday as it pulled onto U.S. 66 from Missouri 19 at an intersection in Cuba.

"The car just jumped out in front of me—I didn't see it in time," Parsons said.

A blinker light at the intersection requires traffic on the state route to stop and wait for a clear road.

Assistant Military Attache Is Ordered To Leave Hungary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today an assistant military attaché at the Hungarian legation has been ordered to leave the country by next Monday.

The action appeared to be in retaliation for Communist Hungary's ouster last month of Capt. Thomas R. Gleason, assistant U.S. military attaché in Budapest, on a charge of espionage.

The Hungarian being thrown out of Washington is Lt. Karoly Meszaros. The State Department gave no reason for the action against him but did not deny that it was connected with the Gleason case.

Lloyd Tells About Ease-Up Toward Reds

US Will Maintain Its Policy of Embargo On Red China Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States declared today it is "most disappointed" at Britain's single-handed decision to abandon special trade controls on Red China.

The State Department said this country intends to maintain its policy of total embargo on Chinese Communist trade.

A spokesman said the State Department believes the British action means Red China will now be able to buy goods like tractors, trucks, generators and other producer machines which will assist in its industrial development.

Other nations, Washington officials said, are expected to follow the British lead in scrapping the controls on goods which for years could not be sold to Red China but could be sold to Russia and the Communist bloc in Europe.

These other nations include West Germany and Japan.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced in London that Britain will abolish controls on the export of some 200 items to Red China. Lloyd said the decision did not portend an easing of curbs on trade of strategic goods with Russia and her European satellites.

The British decision was made in the course of 15-nation negotiations at Paris.

The State Department said an original U.S. proposal for maintaining stiffer restrictions on Red China than on Russia was later compromised. It said the compromise was supported by "a majority" of the countries but that Britain had some backing for its argument that there was "no merit" in applying a different level of controls to Communist China.

The British do intend to apply the same level of controls on exports to Red China as that which governs in the case of Russia and its European satellites.

In response to questions Joseph Reap, a State Department press officer, said the over-all effect should be to "assist the Red Chinese in their industrial development."

Baptist Convention Elects Brooks Hays

CHICAGO (AP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) of Little Rock today was elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention to become the first layman to head the group in 12 years.

Hays, a member of the Second Baptist Church of Little Rock, defeated Dr. Ramsey Pollard of Knoxville, Tenn., in a runoff ballot.

French Jam Shows Signs Of Breaking

Pflimlin Has Agreed To Try Formation Of New Government

PARIS (AP)—The French political logjam today showed signs of breaking as Pierre Pflimlin, 50-year-old Alsatian leader of the liberal Catholic MRP, agreed to try to form a government.

With several factors tilting the odds in his favor, Pflimlin (pronounced Flee-mee-lin) flew to the Pyrenees seaside resort of Biarritz to obtain the backing of his party's national convention in progress there.

Since Pflimlin is national chairman of the MRP (Popular Republican Movement), there was no doubt the convention would endorse his decision.

President Rene Coty asked Pflimlin to take on the Cabinet-forming task after ex-Premier Rene Pleven advised the President he had been unable to work out a platform agreeable to France's center parties.

Pflimlin told the President he would take on the job if his party agreed and if he could line up sufficient support from the other parties in the much-divided National Assembly.

Major Rebuff to Ike

House Slashes Defense Appropriation Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a major rebuff to President Eisenhower, the House has decided that the Defense Department can get along on $33,562,725,000 in new appropriations next year.

That's $2,565,275,000 less than the President had requested and $1,200,000,000 below what he pleaded with his House leaders to try to restore to the bill.

The House sent the biggest money bill of the year to the Senate yesterday by a roll call vote of 394-1. The lone dissenter was Rep. Canfield (R-N.J.), who objected to the deep cut.

In doing so, the House ignored Eisenhower's warning that if the $1,200,000,000 cut stood aircraft procurement and guided missile development would suffer.

The President made no fight for $1,300,000,000 of the cut, describing it as a "bookkeeping operation."

With an economy drive in full swing in the Senate, as well as in the House, it appeared that Eisenhower's hopes for winning his battle there were none too bright.

However, Sen. Chavez (D-NM), chairman of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee which has been studying the defense money requests, said that "if it is necessary in the interest of national security to restore the House cut, all or in part, I am confident that this committee will do it."

The House hurled back every attempt by Republicans to increase amounts recommended by the Appropriations Committee. The big test came on a move to add $13 million dollars which the House previously had denied in piecemeal fashion. It was beaten on a roll call vote 242-151.

Voting to add the $13 million dollars were 140 Republicans and 11 Democrats. Opposing it were 39 Republicans and 203 Democrats.

The additional money would have been spread among all three branches of the service, with the Air Force getting the biggest allotment.

The House upset its Appropriations Committee on only one allotment, and the committee didn't oppose that. It gave the Air Force an extra 21½ million dollars to pay for its share of a new air navigation control system being set up by the Civil Aeronautics administration to handle high-speed jet planes.

The funds voted by their ouster for the fiscal year starting July 1 included these for the three services: Army $7,239,425,000, a cut of $1,225,575,000; Navy $9,801,355,000, a cut of $665,645,000; and Air Force $47,780,000, a cut of $647,780,000. The balance of the money goes to the office of the secretary of defense and to inter-service activities.

Won Sweepstakes Last Year, Too

First Place Winners Withdraw, Encourage Yard Competition

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dean, 1401 West Broadway, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Robinson, 700 South Carr, have withdrawn from the "Yard of the Month" contest sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, for the remainder of the season, according to Mrs. Herbert Seifert, chairman of the city beautiful committee in charge.

The Deans and the Robinsons, who were both sweepstake winners last year in their respective classes, the Deans in the class for homes built before 1950 and the Robinsons in the class for homes built after 1950, entered this year because of their interest in the success of the project. They felt that the more entries the better the contest but when they won first again they decided to help the contest in another way, by returning the prize money they received as this year's award to the Chamber of Commerce to be used to further the project.

The second winner in the before-1950 class was the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. P. Dyer, 524 South Grand, who entered the contest for the first time this year. This is a large, white frame house with a patio in front shaded by a huge pin oak tree said to be one of the largest and most beautifully shaped in town. Evergreens and shrubs form the attractive foundation planting and in the back, where it may be seen from the Fifth Street side, is a lovely rose garden bordered with iris and which earlier in the spring is gay with tulips. Another rose garden is on the north side of the yard.

In the class of homes built after 1950 the second place winners were Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Wright. This new buff colored brick house with its green roof and green shutters, its evergreen foundation planting in front with salvia giving a touch of red and the beautiful green lawn makes quite a picture. Roses grow along the walk at the back of the house, and a neatly trimmed hedge forms the border.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Duff, 911 West Broadway, again caught the eye of the judges this year as it did last year, and these were different judges. The house, a large red brick and white stucco house with brown trim has an attractive setting of evergreen landscaping in front and a spacious lawn of beautiful grass. The garden in the back, perfectly kept, is a real thing of beauty with many kinds of shrubs, vines, flowers and, of course, roses. This home placed third in the homes built before 1950.

Third in the homes built after 1950 was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Pitcairn, 1715 West Fourth. This new red brick home has a long brick planter in front filled with flowers of many kinds and colors, but perhaps the outstanding thing is the huge tree in front encircled with a large brick planter which is also filled with flowers. The foundation planting of evergreens, shrubs and roses, along with the lawn which is vividly green is exceptionally pretty. The backyard is mostly given over to the children, with all kinds of playground equipment, a green tent and a very large white dog. Although

Miss Carol Means Becomes Bride Of Mr. Preston McKinley Rice

The marriage of Miss Carol Means, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Means, 1705 South Marvin, to Preston McKinley Rice, son of Mrs. G. M. Rice of LaMonte, was solemnized at the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Sunday, May 19. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Armin Klemme, before a setting of jade trees, tall baskets of all white carnations, daisies, gladioli and snapdragons on either side of which were lighted tapers in seven branch candelabra entwined with smilax. On the altar, too, were vases of white flowers.

Mrs. Betty Carter, at the organ, played the wedding music and accompanied Kenneth Williams, 907 West Seventh, who sang, "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Preceding the ceremony, the candles were lighted by Miss Ruby Nevils, 1820 South Osage, and Miss Betty Callaway, 665 East 14th, who wore identical white sheath dresses with overskirts of blue lace. Blue carnations formed their corsages.

The bride, whose father gave her in marriage, wore a gown of white lace and tulle, ballerin-length, fashioned with bodice waist, long sleeves tapered at the wrists and sweetheart yoke filled in with tulle to form a high neck. The full skirt was of lace over net with little ruffles of net at the sides. A headpiece designed of pearls held her fingertip length veil. She carried a white Bible with a purple throat white orchid, from which fell narrow white satin ribbon streamers and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Duane Wicker of St. Louis, the bride's only attendant, wore a dress of blue lace styled with bodice waist with sweetheart neckline, and gored ballerin-length skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations surrounded with white carnations.

Duane Wicker, St. Louis, served Mr. Rice as best man. Ushers were John Rice, LaMonte, brother of the bridegroom and John Means, Warrensburg, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a navy blue dress with pink hat and gloves. The bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue with white hat and gloves. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the basement of the church which was attended by 65 guests. The color scheme for the entire wedding was carried out in blue and white and the bride's table was covered with a blue and white net cloth. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and lace ferns, with tiny white swans and on top a miniature bride and bridegroom.

It was encircled with green fern and pink tea roses. On the punch floated large heart-shaped pieces of ice. Serving were Miss Betty Callaway and the bride's sister, Mrs. Arlin Joy, 507 Sunset Drive, who also was in a white sheath dress with blue lace overskirt. Miss Kathleen Means, sister of the bride, took care of the gifts, and Mrs. Joy was in charge of the guest book.

Immediately after the reception the couple left for a wedding trip. The brides going away costume was a sheath dress of beige shade with brown and beige accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

The bride attended Whittier School, was graduated from Smith-Cotton and is now employed at the Southwestern Bell Telephone office.

Mr. Rice received his schooling in LaMonte and served in the Air Force after which he attended Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, and is now assistant manager of the Public Finance Corp.

The couple will reside in an apartment at the Old Missouri Homestead.

Miss Nancy Mae Self Exchanges Vows With Lt. Joseph F. Capuro

Miss Nancy Mae Self, daughter of Mrs. Delphia Self, became the bride of Lieutenant Joseph F. Capuro, Newburgh, New York, in a ceremony held at ten o'clock Saturday morning, May 25, at Sacred Heart Church.

The Rev. F. G. Gallen read the double ring ceremony and the Rev. A. J. Brunswick celebrated the nuptial Mass. The altar was decorated with pink and white peonies. Arrangements of jade were used as a background for the altar setting. Smaller bouquets of the same flowers adorned the altar rail and small arrangements of jade were attractively arranged in front of the railing. Alternate pews were decorated with arrangements of pink and white peonies.

Mrs. Earl Paxton played a program of organ music and accompanied the high school choir, who sang the Mass. She also accompanied Mr. Al Domingue, who sang "Mother Beloved," "Ave Maria" and "On This Day On Beautiful Mother."

The bride was given in marriage by her godfather, Mr. Frank Weber, Overland Park, Kansas. The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white satin. It was styled with a Sabrina neckline and a bouffant skirt that fell into a chapel train. Appliques of lace trimmed the skirt. Matching lace with iridescent sequins and pearls held her veil. She carried a white orchid surrounded by Stephanotis on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Don Cook was matron of honor. Miss Theresa Ressel of St. Louis was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of white chiffon. They were styled with round necks, tucked bodices and very full skirts. Their headpieces were white tulle and they carried bouquets of pink Majestic daisies.

Lieutenant Joseph Torrone served as best man and groomsmen were Lieutenant Gardner Rogers. Ushers were Lieutenant Arthur Volkema and Lieutenant Lewis Hafer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Self chose a navy lace dress with pink accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

A reception was held in the afternoon from two to four o'clock at the Bothwell Hotel. The bride and groom received guests before a background of jade and baskets of pink and white peonies. The white four-tiered cake surrounded with fern and pink roses centered the table, which was covered with white net over pink satin cloth.

Mrs. Ralph Linhardt, aunt of the bride, cut the cake and Mrs. Fred Nuzum, Jr., was in charge of the guest book. Miss Maxine Weber, of Overland Park, Kansas, Mrs. Arthur Volkema and Mrs. Lewis Hafer served at the reception.

Sausage or ground meat may be stored up to three months in a home freezer.

The people on the tour were divided into groups and taken through the Sedalia plant where the operation of the plant was explained as had also been done at the Ralph Green Power Plant and the Clinton Water Plant before arriving in Sedalia.

J. C. Griffin was in charge of the tour.

Baseball Teams Have Had Many Books Written of Them

The baseball season is gathering momentum, and wins and losses, player-trades and managerial shuffles may even now be deciding the pennant contenders. The various clubs in the National and American leagues are employing all the strategy at their command to make a good early season showing. These clubs have had books written about them, their most famous players, and their most glorious seasons. The G. P. Putnam's Sons publish the Putnam Sports Series which include studies of the Braves, the Cubs, the Red Sox, the Tigers, the Yankees and many others including the St. Louis Cardinals.

Last year Ernest Mehl, sports editor of The Kansas City Star, wrote "The Kansas City Athletics." This book tells all the behind-the-scenes events that ended with the move of the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City.

By taking advantage of the many types of books dealing with the fact and fiction of baseball, the enthusiast can gain more enjoyment than ever from this "typically American sport."

This week's bookmobile schedule: Tuesday, May 28—La Monte downtown, 2:30-4:30.

Adenauer Leaves US to Return To West Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left for home last night, saying "German-American friendship has been strengthened" by his three days of talks here.

Adenauer carried away with him a promise from President Eisenhower that the United States plans no action involving disarmament which would prejudice the reunification of Germany.

In a farewell statement at the airport, Adenauer said his government "sincerely welcomes all measures conducive to the creation of a basis of confidence between East and West."

The Chamber of Commerce is very pleased with the project, feeling that it has inspired people to take an interest in their yards whether they enter the contest or not, and with it has come the invitation from many Sedalians for flower lovers to visit their gardens. Some of these people are in the Yard of the Month contest, some are not, and lists of these gardens will be published at intervals throughout the summer.

Runaway Drone Plane Crashes In Wheat Field

COLFAX, Wash. (AP)—A runaway Navy drone plane crashed harmlessly in a farmer's wheat field west of here late yesterday after an erratic, pilotless flight over four states.

The converted F6F Hellcat fighter, which ran out of gas, would have been over the heavily populated Spokane area in another few minutes.

Two Idaho Air Guard jets had been sent up and were flying escorts as the drone neared the end of its journey and a Navy jet had been dispatched from Spokane with orders to try to deflect it from the city.

The propeller-driven drone, which broke its electronic controls about over the Death Valley Monument in California, went through weird aerial acrobatics at the end.
